

Atlas Maps 1:100 000

Atlas sheets were originally made by Danish surveyors during the first four decades of the 20th century. The 87 sheets are considered to be among the most beautiful maps of Iceland. The Atlas Maps show the land surface in considerable detail, with 20-metre contour line intervals, roads, tracks, and many place names. The making of these maps were a great achievement at the time, and are an important part of Iceland's cultural heritage.
